GLENLO ABBEY GOLF COURSE

This lakeside golf course, although fair to the beginners, can be a great test to the low handicapper. With the many lakes, trees, contoured greens and the wind whipping up from Lough Corrib, it plays differently everyday. Designed by Jeff Howes, this nine hole parkland golf course is set in one of the West of Ireland's most scenic locations.

From the golfing novice to the aficionado, Glenlo Abbey Hotel Golf Course offers a unique and challenging experience. Seven of the nine holes boast a water hazard, and our stunning signature Par 3 fourth hole measures 200 yards onto an island green jutting out on the Corrib River. It is a Championship Blue Course, Members White Course, and Ladies Red Course. The gentle rolling hills meet the Corrib River in a tranquil, unspoilt location. It's amazing to think this gem is only a five minute drive from Galway City Centre.

Before your game, the 21-bay, floodlit driving range is the perfect place to warm up. The Glenlo Abbey Driving Range has had a major refurbishment, including the upgrading of the bays to provide a more spacious area for golfers to practice. Other features include new premier fibre cushion mats, new dividers to provide a safer environment to practice, new high quality balls to optimise feedback, top class lighting inside and floodlighting outside. The hitting areas have been enlarged by 25% and 5 bunkered greens have been added to provide the golfer with realistic targets.
