MARC MESSÉGUÉ: THE PHILOSOPHY AND THE METHOD

Well-being (from well + being = "to be well" or "to live well") is a state that relates to all aspects of being human, and defines the quality of life of every single person.

Nature is the one and only true catalyst that allows us to achieve the highest states of well-being.

Marc Mességué's philosophy focuses on reaching an optimum state of wellness utilizing all that nature can provide, in the simplest of terms.

A diet of fresh, seasonal, low-sodium foods that is still flavorful and fulfilling, coupled with treatments like temperature therapy and thalassotherapy, as well as certain massages and beauty treatments, can improve one's external appearance while rebalancing and purifying the body itself. At the core of Marc Mességué's philosophy lies an ancient knowledge of nature and medicinal plants, from which the method is derived.

A WELCOMING

HERBAL INFUSION | 8 min

The short and long-term beneficial effects of herbal teas have been touted since ancient times.

BAIN AUX PIEDS | 8 min

The active substances in officinal plants penetrate the body not only via the intestinal mucosa, but also through the skin. The effectiveness of footbaths is due to the skin's ability to absorb phytochemicals and active substances contained in the medicinal plants.

HAMMAM | 30 min

A detoxifying steam bath lasting 30 minutes; at the guest's discretion.

SENSORY SHOWER | 5 min

A burst of energy. A truly complete chrome shower – aromatherapy, water jets of varying intensities, with variable temperatures and different aromas, for a revitalizing and toning effect.

SAVONAGE | 30 min

An exfoliating scrub made with black soap, precious extracts, natural oils and green tea is applied to the entire body in order to accelerate cell turnover and to stimulate microcirculation.

THALASSOTHERAPY | 30 min

Thalassotherapy, from the Greek thalassa (sea) and thérapiea (treatment), is based on the healing effects of the marine climate, and was invented in Great Britain during the 19th century.
